

METHOD FOR LIMITING THE MOVEMENT OF AN INFANT IN A PARTICULAR DIREC- TION

Abstract

A method for limiting the movement of a toddler which comprises the placement of a barrier upon flooring. The barrier comprises a plurality of studs having upward extending sections. The barrier can be stepped over by adults while preventing further movement in that direction by the toddler.